Wellness Therapy

The Outdoor Collection

Designed by Alberto
Apostoli for Varaschin

This collection, designed for residential projects, spas, and hospitality establishments, includes a chaise longue, single and double beds, and a side table.

Focused entirely on outdoor well-being, the collection takes its name - Wellness Therapy - from the idea of ultimate relaxation, to be enjoyed in a garden, by the poolside, or on a deck. The classic sun lounger is reimagined with a new design: fluid, bold, minimalist, and featuring original details and a soft, unconventional shape. It transforms into a suspended chaise longue with a gently contoured shell that follows the human body to create optimal ergonomic conditions. A thin headrest cushion enhances comfort, while high-density, supportive padding emphasises the relaxed seating position, making it appear to float in the air, anchored only by a slender frame.

The base is exceptionally lightweight: made of metal and customisable in various finishes and colours. It consists of an oval-shaped element at ground level, with an elongated, inclined ring profile that acts as a joint and supports the shell. The upholstery features high-quality outdoor fabric, available in a wide range of options from the catalogue. Fluid stitching enhances the distinctive style of the collection.

Wellness Therapy also includes single and double beds and a multifunctional side table. It is designed for open-air residential spaces as well as outdoor or indoor areas in spas and hospitality establishments.
